

Cosmic Alice

Overview:

Cosmic Alice is a VR scavenger hunt walking simulator, in which players act as an alien monster that traveled to the already destroyed planet Earth to avoid meaningless conflict in her home planet. During her trip in the earth, she found out the back story of the destruction of human civilization and the mystery of her own species.

Control & Mechanics:

1. Thumbsticks	4. Battery covers
2. Menu button	5. Grip buttons
3. Oculus button	6. Triggers

- Look around – Turning the headset or R (Right) thumbstick
- Move to a place – L (Left) thumbstick
- Use special ability (Player have different abilities in different forms) – Press both L and R trigger
- Grab something – Click L or R trigger button, and the stuff will attach to the according hand
- Use something in your hand- When you have something in your hand, move the controller to the place that you can use the object (there will be a hint to tell you where you can use it, and the thing you want to use will snap to it), then press the trigger button on the according controller
- Interact – L or R trigger

Scene settings in different directions will be marked with following colors:

- Left – Green
- Right – Red
- Up – Orange
- Down – Purple
- Front – Black
- Back - Blue

Mechanics and results of interaction will be in Italic.

Walkthrough:

-Opening Cutscene: Enter the Earth-

You were sitting in a huge space ship. Through the front window, you could see a smoky grey-blue planet. It seems that it was covered with smog, and some parts of the land on it were burning. In the middle of the cloud, there's a tornado. On the holographic projection on the window, this planet was marked as the Earth. It might be the only planet in this area that has water and life on it.

A shining white orb was surrounding your spaceship. Then it started to draw circle in front of your window, as if it is going to tell you something. Then it flew away, went into the eye of the tornado. You drove your spaceship into the tornado. All the screens on the spaceship started to blink madly, alerts began ringing. Suddenly, all power in the spaceship was turned off, everything faded into darkness.

"Bang!" After hearing a loud crashing sound, you opened up your eyes.

-Exploration-

You took a look at your hands, it looked like some kind of claws instead of human hands. Maybe you are a space monster or space dinosaur or something. You looked around in your space ship.

In front of you was a window with cracks on it. The holographic projector was destroyed when the spaceship hit the Earth, so the window just like an ordinary one. Through the window, it was a world of burning buildings.

On your left was several broken screens. On your right was a poster of the spacesuit you are wearing. "We use the best ancient technology!" said the poster. On your back was the gate of your spaceship's cockpit. You walk towards it and pressed R trigger to open it.

You walked out of the cockpit and took your first step on this planet. In front of you were some burning buildings which is as tall as you. It seems that there was a civilization of a creature that was way smaller than you used to live in this world. But where are they?

The white orb you had seen in the space showed up in front of you.

White Orb

Welcome to the earth visitor! I'm Hero, the AI from Humanity & Earth Recovering Organization. I'm here to ask for your help to save the earth, as well as human, the species used to rule this world. I'm looking for alien creatures like you to aid our experiment.

You

^%*&$^^*AI@#$%@#$%?

Hero

Sorry, system cannot recognize your language. But I advise you to follow me.

Hero was flying above the street. It reached a cross road and stopped there, waiting for you. You walk towards it. It then turns left, and flew into another street.

You followed Hero to the street on the left. In this block, there were no burning building. On your left is a park. The weed of the park has already grown very tall. Bushes covered the statues in it. You can see some wild animals in the park. On your right, was a splendid and futuristic building – only if it was not covered by vines and ivies.

Hero was floating on the building. So, you turned right. Seeing through the gaps of vines and ivies, you found two brands on the wall of the building. One of them said "National Ultimate Weapon Lab". The other said "Human Evolution Research Organization".

Hero

Here it is! I need you to burn these vines down!

Maybe you can do it? Right? You looked so powerful!

You pressed the triggers on both of your controllers. You spit a fireball! The fireball burnt down the vines, and a huge hole appeared on the wall! This is a very large hole which you can even put your hands in it.

Hero

Thank you, my alien friend! Now I'm going to collect some potions in this building. This is very vital to bring human back to this world.

You

#$#@$^&$%*$%^?

Hero

If I can feel sad, I will feel sad for not understanding your language. But thank you for understanding me! This is a miracle, isn't it?

Hero slipped into the hole. You decided to peep into the building.

You found a huge tank of potion in the middle of a hall. This makes the tank looks very sacred. However, there is a huge doodle on the ground. It said: "Drink me!" The doodle was so large that captured almost all your attention. But if you are careful enough, you will find out there are also a brand on the tank, labeling the potion as "degenerate potion".

You

#$@^%$&^*%^&!

You moved your R hand towards the tank, and pressed your R trigger. You grabbed the tank as if you are grabbing a cup. This time you hold the controller near you, and pressed R trigger. You drank the potion!

Suddenly you had a feeling that you are falling down. But your spacesuit is not falling together with you. As the camera fall down in your spacesuit, you found out that your body become smaller! Way smaller than you were before!

You

Wait? What just happened? Wait! What's the language I'm speaking in right now? It's so familiar... But I'm sure I haven't learned it before!

You

It sounds like the language Hero is speaking. And I don't know why I can understand what he said. As if this language is carved into my DNA. I have to find Hero and ask him what happened!

You take a look at your hands, they become a pair of human hands. You decide to get into the building and find Hero. But now you are still inside of your giant spacesuit. However, you found a door at the place which used to be the heel of your space shoe.

You

There is a door in my shoe! I have never notice that before!

You walked out of the door. The building used to be as tall as you now seem like a skyscraper. Since you burnt down the vines that covered the building, you can now easily walk into it from the front door.

You stated to explore this building.

...

You get to the deepest part of the building. This room is called the Ultimate Weapon Depository. Inside the room, you found several lines of convey belts which is not working anymore. On the belt were what the human called "Ultimate Weapon". You grab one and examine it. It is a bottle of pills. On the package, you see the name of the product: "Evolution Pills". On the ground, there are also some doodles. But it's smaller, and it said: "Eat me!"

You decided not to eat. Then, you found something is approaching you. You turned around: it was a white orb!

Hero

A human! How could that be! The only creature with intelligence in this area I can sense was the giant alien. Wait... what if you are the giant alien...

You

I think I was, but what's happening to me?

Hero

Calculating the probability of "The giant monster is evolved human being" ... result: 99%

...

To be continued